ADDRESS

The Elk Point Pioneer Circle made a major contribution to the F.G. Miller High School Bus Fund. President Marg Clark presented John Cabaj with a cheque for $1,000.00.

Motor Vehicles Division initiates new program

The Department of the Solicitor General, Motor Vehicle Division, had officially initiated a series of new programs to provide a more efficient and cost-effective service to Albertan drivers.

Two of the most significant steps will include the introduction of a staggered renewal program and the availability of new license plates.

Detailed information on these and other changes are currently being mailed to registered vehicle owners in Alberta. However, the staggered vehicle renewal program has been adopted to eliminate the heavy annual renewal period drivers previously experienced. This new approach will divide Alberta's drivers into 12 equal alphabetical groups according to surname.

Solicitor General Graham Harle said: "This will result in more efficient service by reducing last minute line-ups." Mr. Harle noted that passenger vehicle registration fees will remain at last year's level and some other fees have been adjusted slightly to simplify and speed up service to the public.

The new plates will be phased in between October, 1983, and March 31, 1984, but all owners have the opportunity to receive them now -- either by filling in the application form enclosed in the information package or by visiting a local Motor Vehicles Division licensing agent. Once the application has been processed, the new plates will be mailed to the registered owner. All registered automobile owners will have received their information packages by the end of October and other vehicle owners will receive theirs in the following weeks.

Other changes outlined include alterations to the vehicle classification system; medical requirements; permanent fleet and trailer registrations; a quarterly licensing program; and future computerization throug hout the province.

Todd Younghans won the barbeque offered as a prize on the Curling Club draw. Presentation was made at Phil's Hardware & Variety Ltd.

The Cop Next Door

This article was written by Cpl. Dale Martel, NCO in charge of the RCMP detachment in Field, B.C. We were so moved by the item that we felt we should reprint it for the benefit of Elk Point residents.

This is an open letter to all parents of all young people everywhere. I am writing in response to some of the questions you ask me daily. I am not one police officer, but I represent every officer in every city and town in Canada. You may know me only as the cop who gave you a ticket last summer, but I am also the guy who lived down the street from you. I am the parent of three children and I share with you the same hope, ambition and dreams that you have for your children. I am faced with the same problems you have. I share with you those moments of agony and ecstasy. I share with you the feeling of shame, guilt and disappointment when my boy or girl gets in trouble.

The scene is a long stretch of highway with a sharp curve at one end. It had been raining and the roads were slick. A car travelling in excess of 80 mph missed the curve and plowed into an embankment where it became airborne and struck a tree. At this point, two of the three young persons were hurled from the vehicle, one into the tree, the other into the roadway where the car landed on him snuffing out his life like a discarded cigarette on the asphalt. He is killed instantly, and he is the lucky one.

The girl thrown into the tree has he neck broken. Although she was voted queen of the senior prom and most likely to succeed she will now spend the next 60 years in a wheelchair.

Unable to do anything else, she will live and relive that terrible moment over again many times. When I arrive, the car has come to rest on its top. The broken wheels have stopped spinning. Smoke and steam pour out of the engine ripped from its mounting by a terrible force. An eerie calm has settled over the scene and it appears deserted except for one lone traveller who called it in: He is sick to his stomach and leaning against his car for support. The driver is conscious but in shock and unable to free himself from under the bent, twisted steering column. His face will be forever scarred by deep cuts from broken glass and jagged metal. Those cuts will heal but the ones inside cannot be touched by the skilled surgeon's scalpel. The third passenger has almost stopped bleeding. The seat and his clothing are covered in blood from an artery cut in his arm by the broken bone end the protrudes from his forearm just below the elbow. His breath comes in gasps as he tries desperately to suck air past his blood-filled air-way. He is unable to speak and his eyes bulged and fixed on me pleadingly are the only communication that he is terrified and wants my help. I feel a pang of guilt and recognize him as a boy I let off with a warning the other night for an open container of alcohol in his car. Maybe if I had cited him then he wouldn't be there now. Who knows. I don't.

He died soundlessly in my arms, his pale blue eyes staring vacantly as if trying to see into the future he will never have. I remember watching him playing basketball and wonder what will happen to the scholarship he will never use. Dully my mind focusses on a loud screaming and I identify it as the girl who was thrown from the vehicle. I race to her with a blanket but I am afraid to move her. Her head is tilted at an exaggerated angle. She seems unaware of my presence there and whimpers for her mother like a little child. In the distance I hear the mournful wail of the ambulance winding its way through the rainy night. I am filled with incredible grief at the waste of so valuable a resource, our youth.

I am sick with anger and frustration with parents and leaders who think a little bit of alcohol won't hurt anything. I am filled with contempt for people who propose lowering the drinking age because they will get booze anyway, so why not make it legal. I am frustrated with laws, court rulings and other legal maneuvering that restrict my ability to do my job in preventing this kind of tragedy. The ambulance begins the job of scraping up and removing the dead and injured. I stand by, watching as hot tears mingle with rain and drip off my cheeks. I would give anything to know who furnished those young people with that booze. I will spend several hours on reports and several months trying to erase from my memory the details of that night. I will not be alone. The driver will recover and spend the rest of his life trying to forget. I know the memory of this fatal accident will be diluted and mixed with other similar accidents I will be called upon to cover.

Yes, I am angry and sick at heart with trying to do my job and being tagged the bad guy. I pray to God that I might never have to face another parent in the middle of the night and say your daughter, Susan or your son, Bill has just been killed in a car accident.

You ask me, "Why did this happen?" It happened because a young person, stoned out of his mind, thought he could handle two tons of hurtling death at 80 mph. It happened because an adult trying to be a "good guy" bought for or sold to some minor, a case of beer. It happened because you as parents weren't concerned enough about your child to know where he was and what he was doing; and you were unconcerned about minors and alcohol abuse and would rather blame me, for harassing them when I was only trying to prevent this kind of tragedy. It happened because, as people say, you believe this sort of thing only happens to someone else.

For your sake, I hope it doesn't happen to you, but if you continue to regard alcohol abuse as part of growing up, then please keep your porch light on because some cold, rainy night you will find me at your doorstep, staring at my feet, with a message of death for you.

The Cop Down The Street.

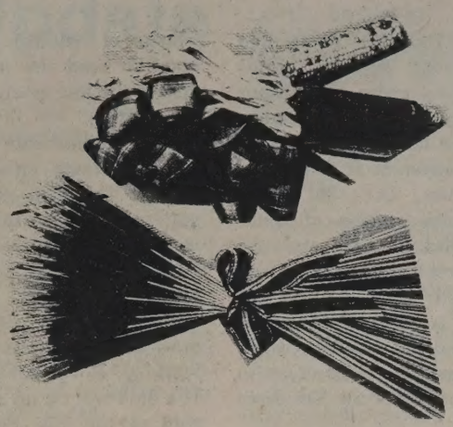
Kitchen Korner Kates



The harvest is in and its a time of rest for man and the earth. Family and friends gather this weekend to give thanks for a bountiful harvest and the opportunity to be together once again. The Korner Kates would like to wish you a happy and enjoyable Thanksgiving with your families and friends and hope the following recipes will assist you in preparing your special dinner.

Basic stuffing: Allow about 1 cup stuffing per pound of ready to cook poultry. 9 C coarse soft bread crumbs, ½ C butter or margarine, ½ C finely chopped onion, 1 C diced celery, 1Tbs. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, 2 tsp. thyme, sage, marjoram or poultry seasoning, 2 C peeled and cored chopped apple.

Saute onion in butter until soft about 5 minutes. Add onion to crumbs, along with remaining ingredients and mix well. - Variations: Brazil Nut Stuffing - omit 2 C chopped apples and add 2C chopped brazil nuts. Add a little stock or water to dressing as desired. Apple and Raisin: add ½ C raisins. Rice and mushroom or bacon: omit chopped apple. Substitute 3 C of cooked rice for 3 C bread crumbs. Add ½ lb. cooked crumbled bacon. Moisten dressing with canned consomme.

Pumpkin Pie - 2 eggs slightly beaten, 1 and three quarter C pumpkin, three quarter C sugar, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. ginger ¼ tsp. cloves, 1 and two thirds C evaporated milk, top milk or light cream 1 9 inch unbaked pastry shell. Mix ingredients in order given. Pour into pastry shell. Bake in hot oven 425 F 15 minutes. Reduce temperature to moderate 350F and continue baking 45 minutes or until knife inserted in centre comes out clean. For 2 9 inch pies double this recipe, pour into 2 pastry shells and bake as directed. Pumpkin pie is delicious served with wedges of sharp cheddar cheese, garnished with whipped cream, ice cream, toasted coconut or chopped nuts.

Hint: Perfect gravy. Brown your flour before adding to the liquid. Here's an easy way to do it - put the flour in an oven proof container and set it in the oven beside the meat. By the time the meat is done, your flour will be nicely browned.

Guess what folks. We goofed but we're learning. Maybe you can use the above recipes for next Thanksgiving but our salutations remain sincere.

The Elk Point Red Cross Branch ladies (how come it's always only ladies) gathered at the home of Violet McFadyen at three p.m. on Mon., Oct., 3rd, for a brisk session of quilt-block cutting and the first meeting of the season.

A dozen ladies attended the meeting, which saw Mrs. McFadyen in the chair and secretary Margaret Modin on hand to read the minutes of the last meeting, June 16th.

The deadline date for sale of tickets on the printed Dresden plate patterned quilt made last winter by several of the members has been moved to Sat., Nov., 26, 1983, with the raffle draw to take place on Tuesday, November 29. The quilt will be on display at the Elk Point Sew 'N' Knit store and tickets obtainable from all members. Anne Buck will be in charge of issuing and receiving the tickets.

The proceeds will go to Red Cross Aid International and Domestic (A.I.D.).

Correspondence received and read by the secretary included a report from Red Cross head office on the sale of handicrafts and quilts at Banff this year. This sale netted $4,469.00, all proceeds going to AID and consisting of handmade articles donated by volunteers. There were fifteen quilts sold in the past year. Proceeds from such sales in 1982 up to Aug. 31st. totalled $21,450.00 while the total to the same date in 1983 was $30 ,000 all for the AID program.

Donations have been received from the children's fair prizes, received by Mrs. Modin and proceeds from sale of a crocheted item of $12.50 was noted.

It was agreed to continue all meetings at Mrs. McFadyen's home, since all the equipment for quilting, patch cutting, etc., are stored there. (The group holds working meetings). The members will take turns bringing lunch.

Yarn will be ordered for those wishing to knit or crochet items for the craft sales or emergency relief. Mrs. Estella Young is in charge of yarn, and it may be obtained from her at her home. There is always a need for mittens, sweaters, scarves and toques as well as other items. Some patterns are available.

Donations have been received of two quilts batts and quilting thread.

The annual convention will be held in Edmonton in March of 1984, and the group will send a delegate. Volunteers should notify Mrs. McFadyen. This is an interesting and worthwhile couple of days for anyone, especially if they have never gone before. There is much to learn of Red Cross activities and program.

Mrs. Modin reported there will be a special display event in Edmonton on Sun., Oct., 16th, of stuffed animals and home crafted dolls made by Red Cross volunteers She also reported that a unique collection of doll patterns will be donated to the Red Cross by a Mrs. Jeanne Olsen. These patterns were collected from the years 1923 to 1976, and include many famous doll patterns. These may be displayed from time to time.

The annual meeting of the Elk Point Red Cross branch will be held on Mon., Nov., 7th at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. McFadyen. As usual there will be a short work session followed by the meeting.

A few of the quilts made by Elk Point Red Cross Branch last year, with Mrs. McFadyen and Mrs. Smith. Lots of warmth for disaster victims.

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce Update

At the noon Chamber of Commerce meeting of October 5, 1983, with fourteen people in attendance, the meeting was called to order and the minutes of September 21 were read and accepted.

Discussion of the political forum to be held October 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the F.C.S.S. centre resulted in the decision that the Chamber will sponsor the forum by supplying coffee and doughnuts. The Treasurer's report was read and accepted. It was noted that October 24 to 30 is Small Business Week. It was also decided that one hundred membership decals should be ordered.

News from the town was brought by Ed Buck who noted that at the last town council meeting, there were not enough members in attendance to form a quorum. He discussed the advance applications now being accepted for the residency in the new Senior Citizens Lodge soon to be constructed by Alberta Housing Corporation. He stressed that applications must be in by October 14, that any senior in the county is eligible and that by applying now indicates an interest and not necessarily a firm committment.

Further points discussed by Ed Buck were work on upgrading the pump at the Water Treatment Plant, the Fort George Buckingham restoration, airport may be ready for an official opening this fall and that maintenance of same may be an issue.

Buck suggested that because of the many projects underway in and around Elk Point i.e. bridge, airport, Buckingham House, Seniors' Lodge, and all the oilfield activity, the Chamber should establish a board to attract attention to Elk Point and it's businesses.

Old business included discussion on the town's purchasing a golf course for the recreational board and the jobs for young people made available by the town during the summer.

Chamber members discussed vending permits available to out-of-town peddlers. Concern was expressed over how they can make a profit from Elk Point residents, yet not contribute to the town's growth by way of taxes.

Ron Barwick brought information from the Lakeland Tourist Association which requires a volunteer to attend the various trade fairs. The volunteer would need to devote much time and energy. He was advised to contact Peggy Adomaitis who had expressed an interest in volunteering.

Fair Board Meeting

Now what would a busy group of ladies like the Elk Point Fair Board be doing out at a meeting on a cool October evening, many months away from summer and summer fairs? Why, planning next years' fair is what.

Meeting at Ruth Vogel's home on Tuesday, October 4th, 1983 at 7:30 p.m., the ladies studied plans for 1984 fair, planning the catalogue, adding classes here, deleting some there. Several members were absent, so final plans could not be drawn, but a good start was made.

It was agreed that fair lists (catalogue) should be more readily available to the public, and it is hoped they will be able to place them in a few public business places in town where they can be picked up by interested persons at their convenience.

The young mothers present spoke on the film usually shown in conjunction with the fair courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce and presented by the Arrow theatre, feeling that the subject of the picture should be more carefully chosen to suit very young children who would be attending. The group will approach Mr. Andrishak regarding this matter.

A suggestion was made that someone visit other fair boards in search of new ideas.

Conveners of each section will outline the list of entries in their section, with some explanation of what is desired during the coming months. Watch your paper for what to enter and how to prepare it, in news from your fair board.

Message to Elk Point Residents

Each year Fire Prevention Week serves to remind all of us of the importance of fire safety.

Across North America the week of October 9 to 15 has been designated Fire Prevention Week. For some 112 years communities have set aside this week to concentrate their attention on fire prevention. It is a campaign that merits our full interest and support.

In 1982, 84 Albertans died as a result of fire, and property losses due to fire reached approximately $163 million. Residential fires continue to account for the highest percentage of deaths and, tragically, many of these deaths could have been prevented if fire safety practices had been followed.

During Fire Prevention Week, I ask all Albertans to carefully examine their homes for potential fire hazards. If you have not installed smoke alarms I urge you to consider doing so immediately. These early warning devices have proven effective in allowing families time to escape fire. Once installed, regular and simple maintenance and testing of smoke alarms, will enhance your family's safety.

I ask all Albertans to join me in supporting Fire Prevention Week. Let's make fire prevention a year-round concern.

Leslie G. Young

Child Fire Deaths Tragedy Strikes

Fire killed 14 Alberta children last year. The tragedy of these deaths is that most could have been prevented. Children look to parents and families for protection. That trust should not be abused. From information supplied by fire departments and fire officials in Alberta, here are brief descriptions of how these 14 children died.

—An eight-year-old child started a fire in a makeshift tent in a living room resulting in a four-year-old being trapped in an upstairs bedroom. The four-year-old died of smoke inhalation.
—A fire near a heater in a mobile home addition killed three children, aged eight, nine and 12. The children were asleep at the time of the fire and there were no smoke alarms.
—A three-year-old boy who had been playing with matches died in a single family home fire.
—Two sleeping children, aged one and four and an adult died in a fire which originated in a chesterfield and which may have been caused by a dropped cigarette.
-Two sisters, aged two and five, and their mother died when the gas tank of their car exploded following a collision.
—A three-year-old boy who had been playing with matches in the downstairs store room of a single family home died when fire blocked his exit.
—A six-year-old girl died in a fire started while she was playing with matches. The home was totally destroyed.
—A three-year-old boy and three adults died

Fire prevention in Elk Point

The promotion of fire safety is an activity many groups can participate in. Community leagues, church groups, home and school associations, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Chamber of Commerce - the list is endless as is the variety of events and activities that can take place. And the benefits are realized not only by the participants, but also by the community itself.

A good starting point is your local fire department. They can let you know what resources are available, how you can utilize them for your particular purpose and how to best organize the material you wish to present.

Alberta Labour's Fire Prevention Branch has seven offices located in various centres around the province including regional offices in Calgary and Edmonton. Staff in these offices will be pleased to assist you in obtaining necessary information or will refer you to other agencies or groups that can help. The staff are also available as speakers or technical resource persons for public meetings.

The branch's Edmonton headquarters and Alberta Labour's Library have compiled a film catalogue listing more than 150 titles designed for use by community groups and other groups. The catalogue contains a listing of films by subject area and a brief description of each of the films. Topics vary from arson and technical information for firefighters to children's films. Contact the Fire Prevention Branch at 427-8392 or the Library at 427-8531 to obtain a copy.

A child's curiosity can be dangerous, for him and for you. Remember keep matches and lighters out of the reach of children.

in a fire believed to have been started after food burning on the stove ignited nearby combustibles. The home was totally destroyed.

—Two children aged four and eight died and their 12-year-old sibling was seriously injured in a single family home fire. The children were asleep at the time of the fire and the home had no smoke alarms.

Fire safety precautions taken now could save the lives of you and your children. Here are a few tips for fire prevention in the home:

- install smoke alarms and ensure that they are kept in good working order with proper maintenance
- Plan your escape routes and make sure your children know what to do if fire breaks out
- teach your children the STOP, DROP and ROLL technique so that if their clothing catches fire they need not be badly burned. Make it into a game which can be practised often
- dispose of smoking materials carefully
- don't smoke in bed
- show children the good ways to use fire such as lighting fireplaces or candles on a birthday cake and NEVER leave matches or lighters lying about within easy reach.

drawers, 8 - chrome chairs, table and 8 chrome chairs, rocking chair, 2 - foot stools, step stool, lounge chair, drop-leaf table, bed stead - wooden head board - good 54" mattress, 54" foam mattress, book shelf with glass doors, artificial Xmas trees, various Xmas decorations, Sanyo washer spin dryer, clothes dryer - needs element, cabinet stereo combination, record storage cupboard.

Credit Union members can be justifiably proud of the success achieved through co-operation. Colouring Contest

Alberta Labour's Fire Prevention Branch is sponsoring a colouring contest for children aged 10 and under.

The four panels represent some sound ideas about fire prevention.

Prizes will be awarded in two age categories, under seven and eight to ten. Prizes in each category are as follows: First Prize $50; Second Prize $30; and Third Prize $20.

Winners names and ages will be published in a news release following a decision by the judges.

RULES:

1. The contest is not open to children of Alberta Labour employees.
2. Entry is limited to one per child, however more than one member of a family can enter.
3. Contestants must colour all four panels.
4. Prizes will be awarded in two age categories under seven and eight to 10. Prizes in each category are: First Prize $50; Second Prize $30; and Third Prize $20.
5. Entries must be postmarked no later than October 31, 1983 and sent to:

Alberta Labour
Fire Prevention Branch
7th Floor, 10808 - 99th Avenue
Edmonton, Alberta T5K 0G2
Attention: Colouring Contest

6. Entries must bear the name, age and address of the contestant.
7. Judging will be the responsibility of Alberta Labour and the decision of the judges is final.
8. Winners will be published by Alberta Labour.
9. Entries will be retained by Alberta Labour.

Pioneer Circle News

The Elk Point Pioneer Circle general membership meeting will convene in their hall Oct. 16th, 1983 at 2:30 p.m. The meetings are held every third month, on the third Tuesday of that month. All members should attend, as several important items require discussion.

The Pioneer Circle membership pins have been well received, as they are most attractive and the price is right. For any who does not have theirs yet, the pins will be available in the hall.

An interesting hour occured on Friday, Oct. 7th, with a slide presentation by Ron Williams, Field Representative from New Horizons.

The slides showed many activities seniors could engage in at their drop in centre. These could be financed by New Horizon grants, if sufficient interest was shown. Williams suggested that a survey be undertaken to determine interest.

"There would be no use getting a piano, if only one person wanted to use it," he said. A few of the many activities shown were choir singing, painting, ceramics, woodworking, weaving, carpet bowling ladies pool, to name but a few.

Carpet bowling seemed to catch the interest of most of the thirty to forty persons present in the hall. A show of hands indicated enough to make up several teams; according to Williams, each team requires eight players. There could be a follow through on this.

Another activity got interest aroused this was pool for ladies. Since the men use the tables every afternoon it was suggested the ladies come in in the mornings to practice. Then the matter of an instructor for them came up, with Williams offering to come at some later date.

However, it was noted that there were lots of men skilled in pool right here, and a bit of coaxing brought up two volunteers, Dan Malachowski and George Jacobson indicating they would be willing to instruct the ladies.

President Marg Clark presented Mr. Williams with a Pioneer Circle pin, and promised that New Horizons would be hearing from the group before long.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mike Capjack would like to express their sincerest thanks to all their relatives and friends who expressed their sympathy at his sudden passing.

For those who sent florals, donations, sympathy cards - thank you. Your kindness will always be remembered.

Thank you to Dr. McNeilly and the nurses at the Elk Point Hospital and to the ambulance drivers.

Special thanks to Reverend J. Cherkawsky for the prayers and funeral service, the pallbearers, members of the Pioneer Circle for serving the dinner, the friends who brought squares. Mrs. Stybel at the St. Paul Co-op. for the catering of the lunch and Park Dale Funeral Chapel for all their assistance.

Your kindness and helpfulness was greatly appreciated and will always be remembered by the family.

Doris Capjack and family.

Bill Hayman changes Review staff vehicle's tire as Sharon Wegner looks on.

Thank you to Mr. Bill Hayman of the Elk Point Bumper to Bumper. And no, Bumper to Bumper does not usually offer tire changing as part of its many services. But when the van carrying the third edition of the Review was making its way to the Post Office last Wednesday, October 5, and blew a rear tire, Bill Hayman was only five minutes behind. He kindly changed the tire in record time thereby aiding the papers' timely distribution.

Election Time Helpers

You know you shouldn't vote for the politician who...

—makes promises that go in one year and out the other.

—stands on his record so no one can see it.

—stands four-square but talks in circles.

—shakes your hand before election day and your confidence thereafter.
